PREFACE

Taylor's 6th Teaching and Learning Conference (TTLC2013) takes place at Taylor's University Lakeside Campus, Selangor Darul Ehsan, Malaysia on Saturday, 23 Nov 2013. The conference attracts close to 200 delegates from 9 nations.

Transformative higher education teaching and learning promotes high level of motivation, learning and achievement for learners. Hence, this year, the conference aims to promote sharing of knowledge and experience, engagement and collaboration among educators, researchers and practitioners in transformative teaching and learning. Chosen specifically to inspire transformation through a robust exchange of knowledge and research, the central theme of this year's conference is "Transformative Higher Education Teaching and Learning in Practice". In order for transformative teaching and learning to thrive in higher education, we need an environment that encourages and rewards intellectual openness. Thus, the Taylor's 6th Teaching and Learning Conference is an ideal forum to encourage active intellectual discourse and significant engagement on recent developments on higher education teaching and learning focusing on the three core themes:

1. Technology integrated in teaching and learning,
2. Pedagogy learning, teaching methodologies and assessment, and
3. Global issues and researches in higher education.

We received a large number of abstracts for presentations, many of which were of a high quality, and selection involved some very careful decisions. The reviewing process involved the participation of prominent educationist and researchers. We are grateful to the authors for their enthusiasm and to all the reviewers for their painstaking work and the time they gave to the evaluation process.

It is expected that this conference will serve as an avenue for stimulating and substantive exchanges that will contribute to meaningful paradigm shifts in teaching and learning practices amongst our delegates.

We would like to thank the Malaysian Education Minister II, Dato' Seri Idris Jusoh for officiating the conference. Thanks to Taylor's University for the opportunity to organise the conference and UiTM for this successful partnership. In addition, we like to express our deepest gratitude to the TTL2013 committee members from Taylor's University, who have worked extremely hard for the last year to prepare for this conference.

We are confident that the conference will exceed the delegates' expectations in building fresh perspectives, opening the space and dialogue to different and challenging ideas as well as highlighting critical but enriching lessons from informed and innovative higher education teaching and learning practices and research. This conference will prove to be an inspiring and truly transformative experience for all the delegates.
